Throughout all growth and treatment concepts, the need for differential diagnosis in treatment planning has been underscored. The underlying argument is that all of the treatment goals - good speech, facial aesthetics and dental occlusion - may be realized without the need to sacrifice one for the other. The concepts of each chapter's author stems from extensive experience subjected to testing. Emphasis is placed on the essential character of multicenter clinical studies for improving understanding of the natural history of the cleft defect and the face in which it is found.
