

American Journal of Occupational Therapy

The official scholarly publication of the American Occupational Therapy Association

Source: American Occupational Therapy Association

ISSN: 02729490

The American Journal of Occupational Therapy (AJOT) is the official peer-reviewed journal that focuses on research, practice, and health care issues in the field of occupational therapy. AJOT publishes articles that are theoretical and conceptual and that represent theory-based research, research reviews, and applied research related to innovative program approaches, educational activities, and professional trends.

- n Strong emphasis on evidence-based methodology including clinical trials for outcomes evaluation
- n Expert occupational therapists share their approaches to challenging problems
- n A Brandon/Hill Allied Health List selection that is recommended for initial purchase

Recommended by:

Brandon/Hill Allied Health Selection

Collections:

- n Ovid Essential Nursing Collection
- n Package: The Essential Nursing Collection 2009
- n Society Published Journals Collection

Broad Subjects:

Clinical Medicine; Health Professions

Specific Subjects:

Pediatrics; Sports Medicine; Management & Hospital Administration; Psychology; Ophthalmology; Education; Alternative Medicine; Rehabilitation & Physical Medicine; Occupational Therapy; Evidence-Based Medicine; Exercise Science

Access Options:

- n Ovid Internet, updated Semi-Monthly

Other Information:

- n Full Text Coverage: Jan/Feb 2000 - Present
- n Indexing: AMED Allied and Complementary Medicine; CINAHL® Database, The; MEDLINE® - Overview
- n PDF Coverage: Jan/Feb 2000 - Present