

Pediatric Nursing

Source: Anthony J. Jannetti, Inc.

Author(s): Veronica Feeg, Gus A Ostrum

ISSN: 00979805

Pediatric Nursing is a clinically based journal focusing on the needs of professional nurses in pediatric practice, research, administration, and education. It provides information related to health care for normal, sick, or disabled children and their families; pediatric clients in the hospital, clinic or office, school, community, or home. A variety of feature and department articles highlight current topics and issues in pediatric practice and health policy, serving a wide range of pediatric professionals - from those who practice nursing in acute care or specialty units to those who promote health in nonhospital environments. Published six times a year.

Collections:

- n Ovid Essential Nursing Collection
- n Ovid Nursing Collection I
- n Ovid Nursing Collection I 2006 1st Quarter (Revised)
- n Package: The Essential Nursing Collection 2009

Broad Subjects:

Nursing

Specific Subjects:

Pediatric Nursing

Access Options:

- n Ovid Internet, updated 12 Times a Year

Other Information:

- n PDF Coverage: January 2003 - Present
- n Indexing: CINAHL® Database, The; MEDLINE® - Overview