Older Adults' Views on Death

This empirically-based study of older adults ranging in age from 70-90 years examines the influence of family relations, religious beliefs, age-related health changes, culture, and more, on personal death meanings, fears of death, and views of the dying process.

Gerontologists will gain a more realistic understanding of all of the factors influencing an older individual's view of death and the dying process. These views impact the development of both effective interventions to provide appropriate emotional support and coping strategies to help persons deal with fears of approaching death.

Publication Year          2006
Edition                   1st
Author/Editor             Cicirelli, Victor G.
Publisher                 Springer Publishing Company
Platform                  Ovid
Product Type              Book
Speciality                Geriatrics & Gerontology
                          Palliative Medicine
                          Social Psychology
                          Social Work
Language                  English
Pages                     400
Illustrations             0
Included In              Springer Publishing Gerontology Nursing Collection 2013