Journal for Nurses in Professional Development (JNPD) is a specialized source of information for professional staff development and patient educators in all healthcare settings.

The journal provides these educators with information on planning, implementing, and evaluating educational activities; administration of professional development departments; research in the specialty; technological or other innovations; and issues in professional development and patient education that may influence the field.

Original articles focus on issues affecting professional staff development in hospitals and other healthcare facilities as well as the latest innovations in education, research, and technology; educating nursing and other hospital staff; competence assessment; developing, implementing, and evaluating program effectiveness; and computer-aided instruction. Continuing education contact hours are available in each issue.

Member Benefit of the Association for Nursing Professional Development (ANPD).
