General Search Information

NATURAL LANGUAGE lets you ask questions or describe topics without having to know syntax rules, search conventions, or complicated search strategies.

1) Type your query into the Search box.

- Do not force phrasing by enclosing terms in quotation, as in: "juvenile onset diabetes."
- Search terms are NOT case sensitive; DIABETES is the same as diabetes.

2) Limit your search to the selected resources.

- Clin-eguide focuses the search to the selected resources.

3) Click Search. The three most relevant results display for each resource. Click the view all ## results link next to the source name to see ALL from that source.

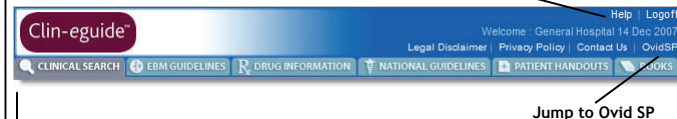

- Star ranking (1-5) signifies the relevance of the result to your query.
- Click a result to display the reference; e.g., clicking Management Overview displays the Clin-eguide Evidence-Based Guidelines
